

WALDEN FARMER
WAS MURDERED
IN HIS HOME

Joe Pascal Shot Charles Perkins Because He Thought Mr. Perkins Was Harboring Mrs. Pascal Who Had Fled From Drunken Husband.

POSSE IS SEARCHING FOR THE MURDERER

Tragedy Took Place Late Last Night After Pascal Had Driven His Wife From Home Through Brutal Treatment.

South Walden, Aug. 4.—While a posse of fifty men is scouring the woods for Joseph Pascal to-day, an autopsy is being held on the body of Charles Perkins, a respected resident, who was murdered by Pascal late last night because he thought Perkins was harboring Mrs. Pascal who had fled in terror from her drunken husband earlier in the evening. The tragedy took place in Perkins' home.

Joseph Pascal and his brother Corlies had been engaged in a carousal for two days, it is alleged, having gone to Morrisville to secure their liquor. They were both drunk yesterday, and Joe started in to abuse his wife, as the story goes, and she fled from the house, taking three children with her. The husband, in his wrath, followed her and went to the house of Mr. Perkins, believing that her tracks led there, and his belief being strengthened by the fact that in times past when he had been with the wife she had been befriended by the Perkins people.

Reaching the Perkins' home shortly before ten o'clock, Pascal demanded his wife and was told that she was not in the house. Then he went along to the house of Will Bradford, a mile from the Perkins place, and two miles from the house of Mr. Perkins, believing that her tracks led there, and his belief being strengthened by the fact that in times past when he had been with the wife she had been befriended by the Perkins people.

After killing Mr. Perkins, Pascal vented his fury on the telephone instrument, smashing it to pieces. Then going to the bedroom, where Mrs. Perkins lay sick, he demanded of her: "Where is she—my wife?"

On being informed by Mrs. Perkins that she didn't know where the woman was, Pascal is alleged to have said: "You lay there. There'll be business to-night."

But the woman, terribly frightened, fled from the room and went to the bathroom, going later to the shed-chamber, where she was discovered by her son, Harry Perkins. Hiram Smith, the hired man on the Perkins farm, gave the alarm that Mr. Perkins had been shot, but Joe Pascal still hung around the house, defying the neighbors who responded and shooting once or twice, but not hitting anybody. It is said that he aimed the rifle at George Perkins, another son of his victim, but did not pull the trigger.

Before the arrival of Sheriff Winch, who rode thirty miles in his automobile from his home in McAdams, stopping at St. Johnsbury to get State's Attorney Stmonds and Deputy Sheriff Harriman, Joe Pascal had escaped into the woods. Corlies, his brother, surrendered himself and is now locked up in the Hardwick jail. Sheriff Winch and a posse of citizens soon started out on a hunt for the murderer, and it is expected that they will get him, although the woods are thick and not easily searched.

An examination of the Perkins house to-day showed that the bullet from the 38-36 rifle had, after going through Mr. Perkins' body, passed through a door and into a dining-room table, where it was located. Pascal has not borne a good reputation here. He has eight children. The Perkins family has often allied with Mrs. Pascal in her troubles with her husband.

The victim of the murder was 72 years old and one of the most respected citizens of this town. He leaves his wife and three children, all of whom are grown up.

BODY FOUND AT NEWPORT

Woman Drowned in Lake Memphremagog

MAY BE ANOTHER BODY

But They Did Get So Thirsty Working on the Foundation of Montpelier's City Hall—Sheriff Tracy Notifies Gov. Prouty.

Newport, Aug. 4.—The two young sons of Professor Adams on going in bathing yesterday morning at their summer residence on Belle Island discovered the body of Mrs. James Mossa floating between their diving raft and the shore. The woman had been missing since Sunday afternoon, when she and a nephew named Barbu, aged 23 years, went rowing. Their boat was found bottom side up Monday morning.

Mrs. Mossa, who was about 40 years old, had a poor record and it is believed that she and her companion had been drinking. Her family did not lay particular stress upon her absence Sunday and when it was learned that she had gone out on the lake it was supposed that she would be found at the line house.

The finding of her body yesterday two miles from where the empty boat was floating Monday morning makes it impossible to guess at the whereabouts of Barbu's corpse and all that can be done is to wait for it to rise.

Mrs. Mossa is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters, all of Newport.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING.

Three People Taken Out of Lake Memphremagog When Boat Capsized.

Newport, Aug. 4.—Fred Carewell and daughter, Derby Line, who are in camp at Lake Park, had trouble with their gasoline launch Monday evening and when the engine started they ran down a rowboat containing Mrs. G. A. Anderson, her mother-in-law and three-year-old son, also of Derby Line. Mr. Anderson was on the shore and, seeing his family struggling in the lake, swam to their assistance. Captain Holbrook also helped and no lives were lost or serious harm experienced.

THREE SHORT FLIGHTS.

Were Made By Glen H. Curtis, at Mineola, L. I.

Mineola, L. I., Aug. 4.—Glen H. Curtis, who will represent the United States in the "aviation" event at Bellingham, France, the latter part of this month, made three short flights here last evening on a biplane of his manufacture which he recently sold to the New York Aeroplane society and which a novice wrecked in a trial flight two weeks ago. In repairing the machine a new and larger gasoline tank has been attached with a view to making longer flights possible.

Mr. Curtis hopes to make a world's record before leaving for Europe on Thursday, but last evening, although the weather was ideal for aerial motoring, it was discovered after three short flights that scales and dirt from the new tank had gone into the gasoline and clogged the carburetor. Because of this, the engine ran very irregularly, precluding the possibility of a record. As it was in the three short flights he completely overcame the fault. But the longest flight was not more than half a mile.

The new tank carries 12 gallons of gasoline against the three gallons capacity of the old tank, and Mr. Curtis believes that under favorable conditions the "Golden Flyer" will set a new world's record.

The machine which he will use abroad is in New York ready for shipment. It is similar to the "Golden Flyer."

UPHOLDS DIVORCE LAW.

A Boston Judge Declares It Is Founded Upon Mercy.

Boston, Aug. 4.—"The divorce court is an institution of civilization," according to Judge Richardson, of the superior court. He was hearing the petition of a wife, who sought an injunction against her husband from interfering with her personal liberty, pending divorce proceedings, in which cruelty was alleged.

Judge Richardson said: "The laws of Massachusetts, in respect to divorce, are founded on mercy, in a large majority of cases, as to practical results, mercy to women."

"Those persons who talk much against divorce and the divorce court mistake, among other errors, the cause for the consequence. Divorce is the consequence of habitual drunkenness, cruelty, desertion and other crimes which are justifiable grounds for divorce, and not the cause of them."

"The divorce court is an institution of civilization. It is not to be troubled by the law's delays or a process of a court; they dispose of an undutiful spouse more summarily. It is only within the last half century—and under government purely secular—that married women have had adequate protection in respect to their property or person."

HADLEY'S OLD AGE.

THREE MEN FAIL
FOR A MILLION

Cyrus W. Davis, Edward J. Lawrence and Henry M. Soule Filed Petition at Portland, Me.

Portland, Me., Aug. 4.—Petitions in bankruptcy were filed for Cyrus W. Davis of Waterville, Edward J. Lawrence of Fairfield and Henry M. Soule of Boston, individually and as members of certain firms in the U. S. district court yesterday. The liabilities as individuals aggregate $1,000,000. The assets are of uncertain value, having been turned over to a committee of creditors a year or more ago. Mr. Davis was the Democratic candidate for governor in 1906.

That the petitioners have been hard pressed financially has been understood for months, but it was so generally known that they turned over to their creditors about everything of value which they possessed as the result of a meeting in May, 1908.

At that time a committee was appointed to investigate the affairs of the debtors and this committee recommended that a year be given in which an attempt should be made to straighten out the financial tangles, the assets in the meantime to be held by a committee of creditors appointed for the purpose. A majority of the creditors assented to this arrangement and it was put into effect, but, inasmuch as a few of the creditors did not join, the petitioners now have begun these proceedings for the purpose of obtaining their discharge from bankruptcy.

The petitioners and their associates, for a number of years have been acting together in the prosecution of a number of business ventures, including the building of street railways in Maine and the conduct of mining operations in the West. Firms they formed financed the Waterville & Oakland street railway at the Portland & Brunswick electric road.

The latter was built from Brunswick to Yarmouth and operated to connect with the electric road of another corporation extending from Yarmouth to this city. It is impossible to make an accurate estimate of the value of the assets, as they consist largely of securities, real estate and other property of recognized value.

Messrs. Davis, Lawrence and Soule did business as "Cyrus W. Davis, agent," "Davis & Soule, agents." The liabilities of the first-named firm are given as $665,296, of which $439,895 are secured claims, $225,401 unsecured claims and $7,000 accommodation paper. The liabilities of the second firm are stated to be $125,285, of which $88,650 is accommodation paper.

The three gave their liabilities as individuals as follows: Cyrus W. Davis, $613,257, of which $335,610 is secured claims, $277,647 unsecured claims and $1,000 accommodation paper; Edward J. Lawrence, $399,756, of which $171,696 is secured and $228,060 is accommodation paper; Henry M. Soule, $237,109, of which $162,199 is secured and $74,910 is accommodation paper.

Messrs. Lawrence and Davis are stockholders of the Waterville Trust company, which was organized in 1907 and which was appointed on July 2 and ordered to settle the affairs of the bank. Mr. Lawrence held 140 shares and Mr. Davis 100 shares.

Burlington, Aug. 4.—The shades of Joseph Smith, the founder of the Mormon religion, must have hovered over and about the city court room yesterday afternoon, when C. J. Secretary's Report To-day Showed the Organization to Be in Good Condition—Ludlow Probably Next Year.

Twenty-one towns responded to the roll-call. The annual parade was held this forenoon, the column forming at the depot at half past ten and marching through the principal streets of the village. The Morrisville Military band headed the procession and the Johnson band participated also. The firemen from Randolph, Stowe and Johnson were present in uniform. Mayor Burke of Burlington was also in the parade. The annual contest will be held this afternoon between teams from Randolph, Stowe and Johnson.

The secretary's report showed a balance on hand of $250.08 and the association to be in good standing. It was thought this forenoon that the next annual meeting will be held at Ludlow, since the place generally follows the president.

This is the twentieth annual convention. It was called to order in the town hall last night. An address of welcome was given by G. W. FEW FEATURES.

At Grand Circuit Meeting at Kalamazoo, Yesterday.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 4.—Features were scarce at the second day of the Grand Circuit meeting, which was favored by fine weather, and an improved, although not fast track. The principal event was the 2:10 early evening pace, in which George Gano, winner of the Chamber of Commerce event at Detroit, toyed with his field, the second heat being five seconds slower than the first.

While a fast lot scored in the 2:05 pace, Lady Maid C. was jogging at the end of each heat.

Dr. Jack won the 3:17 trot without effort, although he had to keep moving faster in the successive miles.

The only contest of the day was the 2:15 trot. Montell won the first two heats, the second by a neck, from Dan K. and then Todd Mae beat him in the next three, trotting a good time.

The big race of the week is tomorrow, a $50,000 event, for 2:14 trotters, in which nine will start. Margie, winner of the M. and M. meets E. Vireless, Penina Malt, Bess, Jennie Constance, Marie N. Harry Banning, The Angelus and Jack McKerron. It looks like a harder field than Margie beat at Detroit.

TO IMPROVE ROAD TO WATERBURY

State Highway Commissioner Gates Plans to Spend Several Thousand Dollars on The Road This Year.

State Highway Commissioner C. W. Gates of Franklin was in the city today and left in company with County Highway Supervisor R. S. Currier of Abbeville, for Northfield, going by automobile. At Northfield they inspected a road which is being laid out under the latter's supervision as a permanent highway. State Commissioner Gates said that it is the intention of the state highway department to improve the highway between Barre and Waterbury, since he realizes that it is one of the most important roads in the state.

Mr. Gates intends to have about $7,000 laid out on this line during the present year, the amount including a considerable portion of Washington county's automobile money which comes from the state taxation of the machines under the law passed by the legislature of 1908. The need of an improved and safer highway between Barre and Montpelier is particularly emphasized by Mr. Gates, and it is on this portion that he intends to lay out the greater part of the money.

That Commissioner Gates is intent on his work of fixing up Vermont's roads was evident when a newspaper man today tried to get his views on the Vermont governorship, into which his name has been brought with more or less frequency during the past year. When the newspaper man inquired whether he was a candidate or not, Commissioner Gates, although he couldn't help smiling, replied: "I took my oath of office a year ago to attend to Vermont roads and I intend to spend my time in carrying out that oath." That didn't really answer the question; but it indicated that Mr. Gates hadn't got anything in particular to say about the governorship at present except that a public servant ought to attend to business rather than be chasing a gubernatorial nomination.

PRISONERS
CAME BACK

After They Had Taken Liquid Refreshments

THEY DIDN'T TRY TO ESCAPE

Mrs. James Mossa and Her Nephew, Named Barbu, Went in a Boat Monday and He Has Not Been Seen Since.

Because Timothy Casey and Elmer Jacques, two inmates of the Washington county jail who were put out at work, absented themselves from their duties yesterday afternoon and returned to the jail last evening in a state of intoxication, Sheriff Tracy, their custodian, has put the matter up to Governor Prouty to see what will be done about it, and he is waiting to hear from the executive office at Newport.

Casey and Jacques were put out at labor by the prison, being sent to work on the foundation for Montpelier's new city hall on Main street. They returned of their own accord at seven o'clock last evening, after getting liquid refreshment, and allowed themselves to be locked up again. Casey was sent to the jail from Northfield to serve a thirty days' sentence for intoxication, while Jacques was sent to Sheriff Tracy's establishment from the Barre city court to serve a nine months' sentence for selling liquor contrary to law.

Sheriff Tracy has had little trouble with the inmates of the jail who have been put out to work, and he is at a loss to know just what to do with the cases of Casey and Jacques.

JURY TRIAL HELD

And the Respondent in Williamstown Court Was Acquitted.

The first jury trial in Williamstown for some time took place yesterday afternoon, when Charles Rock was held before the majority of the law on the charge of having assaulted on Henry Lassard, O. W. Dickenson, the Williamstown grand juror, appeared in behalf of the state, assisted by R. A. Hoar of this city. E. R. Davis of Barre was present for the defense.

The specific charge was that Rock attacked Lassard without cause or provocation and that he pulled a knife from his pocket and with his teeth bit a considerable portion from his face. The jury did not see it that way and Rock was acquitted.

It came out in the trial that Rock went to visit at the home of Louis Lassard, a brother of the complaining witness, and that Henry Lassard took it upon himself to ride the home of his brother in the presence of the aforementioned Rock. Apparently his presence was not pleasing to Henry, and he is said to have told Charles what he would do if the complaining witness did not make himself scarce and be gone. True to his name, Rock didn't budge and Lassard is said to have started toward him in a threatening manner. That was all he did do, for no sooner had he started than Rock was moving away, and the pursuing Henry in a prostrate attitude, and hence the jury trial with the aforementioned result.
